LEWIS UNIVERSITY

Lewis is one of only 36 FAA Air Traffic Collegiate Training Initiative (CTI) programs in the country and the only program in the state of Illinois. Our program provides graduates with fundamental air traffic control knowledge and technical understanding through classroom and laboratory instruction. Graduates qualify for entry into the FAA ATC Academy, where training is completed.

Students gain background in both aviation business administration, and aircraft dispatch. Career opportunities include management positions in the airline industry, aircraft manufacturing industry, governmental agencies, airport management and others.
